Foreword

Since the dawn of man there has been an unceasing force at work in the world driving each successive generation to greater heights than the one before it. In each new age, the dreams of the past become the realities of the present. In each period of history, new leaders come to the fore in every field, often hiding the great men of the past in the flickering shadows of their new flaming brilliance.

What is this force? What is this strange energy that moves man onward, that never sleeps, that makes us what we are? To us it seems that it is not one single force, but rather three forces—separate, distinct, yet bound together by their very existence—three forces continually sustained by their own interaction:

The youth watches and learns, waiting and dreaming of the day when he might lead the charge, or throw the touchdown pass, or read the valedictory address. Waiting—impatiently—but not for long.

And because he once waited, and because he knows that just as he did others now yearn for the place he holds, with all his strength, the general is bolder than he had ever dared to be, the halfback is faster than he has ever been, the speaker is more eloquent than he has ever dreamed.

And tempering this blade of strength, fanned white hot by youthful ambition, is the careful coolness of he who has already ridden the white charger, who has won the game, and who has folded up the speech of parting.

These three—the waiting youth, the struggling leader, and the moderating guide of wisdom—acting and reacting, changing and exchanging—create and are the force that moves mankind on the Venture.

Dedication

Miss Pearle Carroll

What is that elusive spark that kindles an ember of warmth and keenness of living in a woman? Few are ever blessed with it, and lucky are those who are privileged to feel its kind rays.

In Miss Carroll such a spark has fallen, and we, the students of Port Jervis High School, are the recipients of her amazing gift. The gift is an intangible one, yet it is more real than anything wrapped with a big red bow. It is given in little unassuming ways and, like most good things, it is not announced by a trumpet fanfare. It flies from her to us on the wings of a smile or, not infrequently, it rides the sharp point of a castigating phrase.

But however it comes, it makes itself known. The wrinkles smooth out of our foreheads; the corners of our mouths turn up; the shadows slip away from our eyes, and we see ourselves in a truer light.

For her numberless heroisms and kindnesses, for her example of strength, and—most of all—for her honest appraisals of us, the senior class salutes the first lady of our main office, Miss Pearle Carroll, and to her we gratefully dedicate our book.

Mr. Archer, Assistant Principal.

Varsity Football

Football plays a big part in the life of Port Jarvis High School. For some it means hard work, and long hours. For others it means excitement, color, and headlines. For others it means sore throats, and hot coffee. For still others it means cold mouth pieces, and frozen valves, and, for a special few, it means a chance to be "Queen" for a day. For all of us it means part of the Venture.

A football team must practice hard if it expects to have a successful season, and the Red Raiders are no exception.

Before the 1959 football season began, Port Jarvis High School grid fans expected the Red Raiders to be leading contenders for the DUSO football championship. However, despite the support of loyal local fans and the spirited play that earned quarterback Alan Russell his berth on the All DUSO second team, Port suffered defeat after defeat, compiling a poor record of one win and seven losses. It became evident to all that the football program at Port Jarvis High School was somewhere awry.

Two chief reasons for Port's unsuccessful season were injuries to key personnel and overall lack of manpower. Frank Bell—in 1958 Port's most reliable back and first team All DUSO selection—this year was injured in the first game, and consequently couldn't play as well as was expected of him. During a later game, another member of last year's All DUSO team, center Doug Parsons, was injured along with defensive stalwart Bill Morgan. The team seldom took the field with more than 30 players on the entire squad; this limited the number of substitutions. However, some of our opposing teams had enough capable players to be able to use unit substitution, thereby wearing out the home team by simply putting a fresh team into the game whenever the first team became tired. The sad part of this situation is that there is enough equipment and enough coaching to handle a much larger team, but season after season fewer boys who have the ability to be good footballers go out for the team.

For the seniors, Thanksgiving Day is the last time they will lead the Red Raiders in a gridiron duel with the Middies. Here they wait for the toss of the coin at midfield.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Is this scene familiar to you? Mixed feelings of excitement and despair swept through the crowd and our port cheerleaders at Middletown this past Thanksgiving Day.

After the special assembly, during which the results of the selection were announced, our new queen and her attendants posed in the corridor for this record of the event. Left to right: J. Weiss, L. MacDonald, queen Evanna Kowal, A. Argyros and J. Homer.

Thanksgiving Day Queen

The Student Council annually sponsors the selection of a senior girl to represent Port Jervis High School at the traditional Thanksgiving Day game with Middletown. Honors for our queen begin with her crowning at a school assembly ceremony.

The queen this year was Evanna Kowal. She reigned with her court at the mid-game field parade and the post game dance. The queen and her court Judi Weiss, Agatha Argyros, Jane Homer, and Linda MacDonald possess what we believe to be the most admirable traits in high school co-eds.

In the Turkey Day Classic at Wilson Field Al Russel sees Middies, Middies everywhere, but not a block for him.

This year our junior varsity has been quite successful in giving the sports fans new varieties of old cheers. These girls must practice each day after school and keep up their grades at the same time.

The Latin Club

The organization of the Latin Club is based upon the government of the Roman State. Each consul, or president, serves every other month, as did the consuls in the Roman day. The club has a Scriba and a Quaestor, who correspond to our Secretary and Treasurer. The Aediles or program chairmen attend to the activities at each meeting.

February 18 was an eventful day for the Latin Club. On this day new members were initiated into the club at a supper party.

On the third Thursday of each month the club meets for a regular meeting to carry out the business of the day. After the meeting, the Aediles take over for the informal session.

Judy Wagner and Miss Harris reprimand slave Brenda Sutton for disregarding the law of silence on Latin Club Initiation Day.

The Science Club

In November the Science Club toured the Texaco plant at Beacon. Here they saw many of the new scientific achievements. Among these, they viewed an electron microscope.

On our local T.V. station the club put on several programs. Among these was one on sound and electricity. Another program was based upon the upcoming man into space project involving the much publicized astronauts. The performers told how the rocketships were expected to get man into space and how families of these men felt about their going.

Early in December members of the Science Club went to the Monticello Science and Industry Fair at Monticello, New York, where they witnessed many new experiments.

On January 7, this organization put on a program for the Sullivan Avenue Parent-Teacher Association.

The Seventh Grade

The seventh graders are among the most spirited and best supporters of our school. When they first entered, they were eager to be a part of all the activities and were always good prospects for tickets, banners, pep buttons and shakers. They too had their project—the pencil sale. This year, energetically applying the sales tactics learned from senior high students, they had excellent results. In the spring, when they played host to the incoming class, they proudly showed off their new knowledge.

The Student Council

The Student Council, whose membership consists of a representative and an alternate from each homeroom, is an excellent training ground for leadership. As ideas are presented, the new members see how they are worked out and put into action by the more experienced representatives and officers. This year the council has been particularly successful. It raised funds for UNICEF and the Goodfellow Scholarship, held two well attended dances—the Booster Ball and the Sadie Hawkins Dance—and promoted school spirit and pride by putting up posters and instituting dress-up day.

Coach Patrick Forace

This year's basketball team didn't have a successful season, but it gained much in the way of experience. Led by Tom Coleman and George Chandler, a pair of juniors, the team's record was 2-14. We had a very young team this year—they should show their full strength next season. We made out much better in the non-DUSO encounters, romping to victory twice with Delaware Valley Joint High School. Throughout the year, the scoring of Coleman and the rebounding of Chandler were two good points Coach Pat Forace's boys had, along with the hustle which was always present.

Basketball

The pictures that you see here graphically illustrate the vigorous excitement that makes basketball one of the most popular sports in our high school. Regardless of the score or standing of our team, the Red Raiders played with a zealous fire and eagerness. Couple this spirit with the speed and tenseness characteristic of the game, and you have high school basketball—Port Jervis style!

And now the sun warms our backs . . . the earth gives off a heady aroma . . . white clouds chase each other across a blue sky . . . and tomorrow's leaders step forth—with the advice of wisdom in their ears—and the eyes of the young on their backs.

Varsity Baseball (1960)

Row: Mgr. E. Oppelt, M. McLaughlin, D. Crine, J. Hinkley, Mgr. E. White, Third Row: B. Seaber, J. Sacco, J. Nolan, H. Storms, S. Biccum, Mrg. G. Coleman.

This year's club abounds with young players who have experience. The team will have good strength in almost all positions and should end up above the .500 mark.

The mainstays of the team should be Tom Coleman,

Bill Morgan, Don Backus, Gibby Romaine, Jack Hinkley, and Frank Bell. Their play will have a direct bearing on the standing of P.J. at the end of the season.

We now have two baseball coaches. Mr. Zelno is still Head Coach, and Mr. Chase is his assistant.

Track Team

Port track and field enthusiasts are eagerly looking forward to seeing our track team perform. The P.J.H.S. cindermen are expected to have a good season this year because most of the fellows from last year's team are back. Many of the runners have gained much confidence and endurance from their participation this fall in the newly organized cross-country team.

Under the able tutelage of Head Coach, Mr. Short, and assistants Mr. Pepin and Mr. Neubert, this year's team should turn in some very fine performances.

First Row: G. Short, coach; P. Siagel, S. Decker, B. Beams, T. Dewey, B. Edwards, L. Keyes, B. McCullough, Managers, J. Quick, W. Lamoreaux. Second Row: Mr. J. Pepin, assistant; F. Grawi, J. Fleischer, G. Craig, T. Westbrook, P. Acoveno, A. Lertora, T. Harding, J. Jaggie, D. Wasman, D. Bachelder. Third Row: A. Russell, R. Shive, D. Clark, J. Kean, M. Roberts, R.

Curran, R. Goldman, C. Aber, D. Parsons, G. Butler. Fourth Row: F. Pavlich, T. Hendrick, J. Millsbaugh, T. Hazelton, J. Swingle, G. Aumick, C. Aumick, S. Melnick, L. Lotini, B. McGooley. Fifth Row: B. Forbes, F. Markiewicz, B. Bushwater, K. Denk, B. Bloomer, E. Haycock, J. Walker, L. Friedman. Absent: E. Haycock, J. Cherry, T. Westbrook, D. Smith, J. Rielly, B. Taylor.

Cross Country was initiated into our varsity sports program this year. After a late start, coach Pepin had to keep the boys hustling in order to get them in condition for the grueling race—which is over $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles long.

Considering that cross country is a new sport at Port Jervis, and that most of the participants are underclassmen, the fellows did fairly well by placing in some of the meets.

How shocked and saddened we all were, last March, at the accidental death of Larry Hartnett. Only the day before, his picture had appeared in the "Gazette" as a scholarship winner.

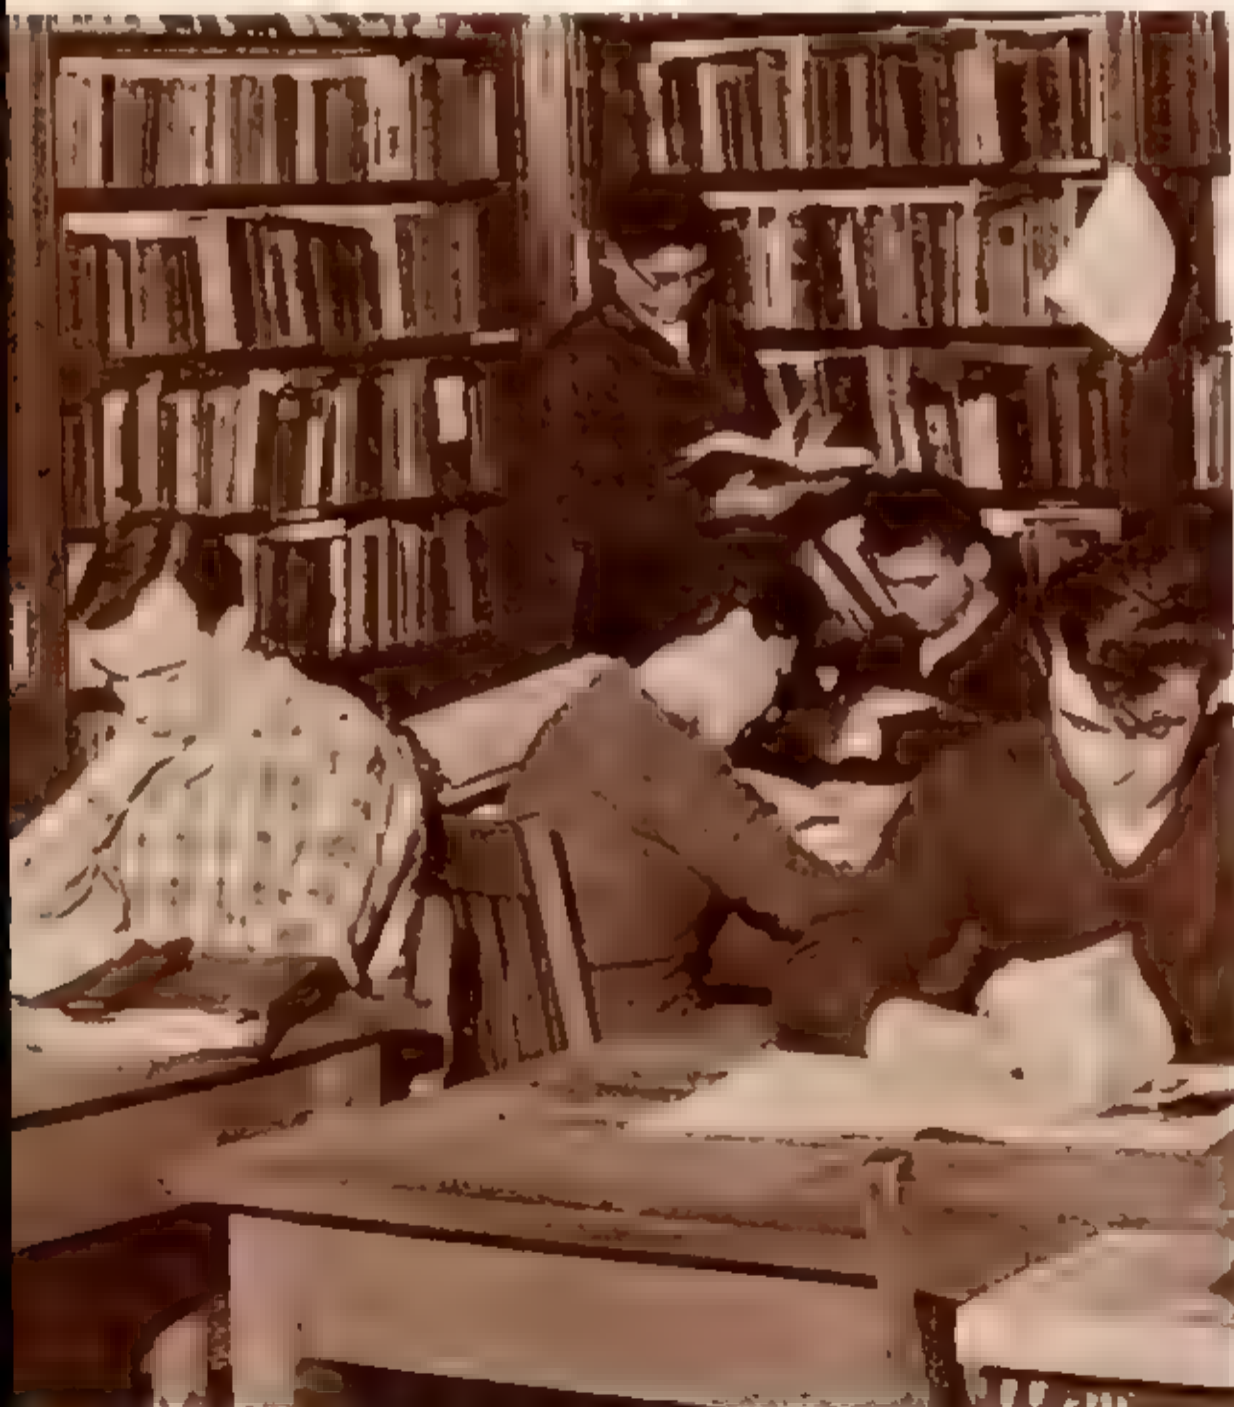

When we first learned what had happened to Larry, that night after the last performance of the senior play, we were incredulous—then appalled. We wondered why this had to happen to one of us. It was bewildering, but then followed the acceptance of it—and the after image.

Those of us who knew "Loopy" will always remember his shy nature and manner . . . his deep voice . . . his fondness for working alone . . . his honor roll scholarship (despite those late papers) . . . his love of golf . . . that slow drawling speech . . . the carefully thought out words . . . the hours he put in working on his car . . . his long gaited walk . . . the slide-rule holstered under his belt.

It goes without saying that we shall miss, "Loopy." To his family and friends the senior class offers this page. We hope that in years to come it will help keep his image fresh and real.
